ONE DOLLAR

The first Gran Torino.

Smooth, like all the nine new Torinos, because it's got a special new suspension.

And quiet, because it's a Ford.

This is the value the other mid-size cars will be trying to match, from now on.
This is Gran Torino. One of the 1972 Torinos.
The new line of mid-size Fords.

We built it quiet and smooth. We built it rugged, with a new body-frame.
We built in more comfort, by adding room inside.

Gran Torino—in fact, every '72 Torino—is like no other mid-size car you've ever driven. See it at your Ford Dealer's now.

AIR FORCE vs. OREGON

By HAL BATEMAN
Sports Information Director

If the past series record between Air Force and Oregon means anything, there probably will be a lot of points out on the scoreboard this afternoon.

The series between the two intersectional rivals has generally been a high-scoring one, featuring a 35-20 Oregon victory in 1962, a 60-13 Air Force triumph in 1969 and a 46-35 Duck victory last season.

Those games really kept the statisticians busy and both teams have the offenses to come up with a similar type game today.

Oregon has senior tailback Bobby Moore, one of the most versatile college football players in the nation today, and junior quarterback Dan Fouts, who led the Ducks to victory over the Falcons last season, completing 28 of 43 passes for 396 yards and four touchdowns. Moore is a dangerous runner and last Saturday against Washington State gained 161 yards on 36 carries.

Air Force has a few weapons of its own, however. The Falcon offense had its best day of the season in the 44-28 loss to Arizona State last Saturday, rolling up 422 yards, including 242 passing. Sophomore quarterback Rich Haynie completed 13 of 30 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns while junior quarterback Joel Carlson sparked two touchdown drives.

Today's game marks the final home appearance for 18 Falcon players, one of the finest groups to ever wear the Silver and Blue.

Appearing in their home finals will be such stalwarts as co-captains Brian Bream and John Greenlaw, fullback Kevin Brennan, offensive ends Paul Bassa and Larry Huff, linebacker Darryl Haas, offensive guard Gordon Herrick, defensive tackle John Griffith, middle guard Willie Mayfield and defensive backs Charlie Richardson, Kent Bays, and Tim Simmons.

Bream, hard-running tailback, reached two milestones in Falcon football history, becoming the first Falcon player to ever gain 2,000 yards rushing in a career. Bream's touchdown against Arizona State also made him the second leading scorer in Falcon football history, trailing only All-America Ernie Jennings.

Haas, one of the most versatile Falcons, is well on his way to setting a school record for punting if he maintains his present average of 41.7 yards per kick. He ranks among the nation's best.

Other school record holders this season have been junior cornerback Chip Hough for punt returns and Carlson for his 88-yard run that broke open the Army game.

The Falcons wind up the season on the road, playing at Tulsa next week, then moving on to Boulder for the season finale Nov. 20 against always-tough Colorado.

In a skid, the thing that can kill you is your own instinct.

A little sand spilled on a nice dry highway. A spatter of rain on an oily city street. A patch of glare ice on a bridge.

You can skid on all of them. Even with brand new tires. Even at 12 miles an hour. And, if you skid, you can count on your instinctive reflexes to try and murder you.

Because your instinct wants the skid to stop. So it tries to make you hit your brakes (figuring that brakes can put a stop to anything).

Your instinct figures wrong.

Hitting your brakes keeps your wheels from rolling. So they're forced to keep sliding. And a minor skid can turn into a fatal crash.

When you start to skid, forget your instinct and remember these rules:

Keep your foot off the brake.

If your rear wheels are sliding to the right, steer gently to the right until you feel the tires gripping the road again. (Don't make any fast, sharp moves.)

If your rear wheels slide to the left, steer gently to the left.

If you must stop, pump your brake pedal with a hard, rapid, on-and-off action to keep your wheels from locking and skidding even worse.

Finally, if you must drive on a slippery road and your instinct tells you that a sudden change of speed or direction could make you skid, obey it. (Your instinct isn't always wrong.)

Mascot: Falcon (Mach I)

Curriculum: The U.S. Air Force Academy is neither an engineering nor a liberal arts college, but combines certain elements of both. It may be accurately described as a school of general education for professional Air Force Officers—a school which endeavors to give each cadet the knowledge and qualities of leadership required of an officer in the United States Air Force and a basis for continued development throughout a lifetime of service to his country, leading to readiness for responsibilities as a future air commander. A cadet who completes the 4-year course will graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree and a commission as a second lieutenant in the Regular Air Force.

FALCON SPOTLIGHT:

PAUL BASSA

6-5, 199-pound senior offensive end
from Phoenix, Arizona

Although this year's version of Air Force football may not feature the record-breaking pass performances of Bob Parker and Ernie Jennings, it still features one of the vital cogs in that passing attack — Paul Bassa.

A two-year letterman, Paul logged 245 minutes as a starting tight end last season after lettering as a defensive end in 1969. Despite the presence of Jennings, Paul caught 38 passes last year for 445 yards and was a standout in the Sugar Bowl with 10 catches for 114 yards and a touchdown.

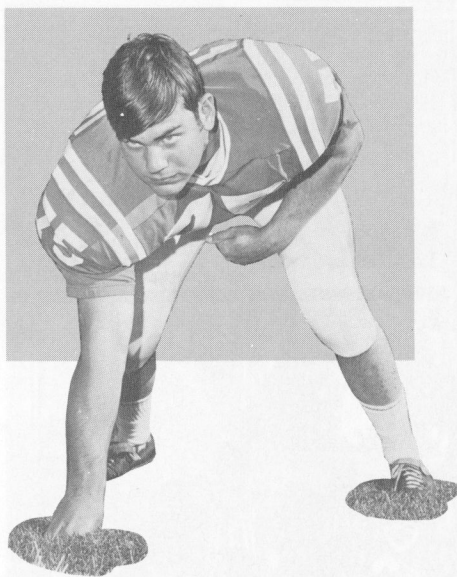

This year he is the leading receiver on the team and had a spectacular game in the near upset of Penn State. The Phoenix native snared eight passes for 113 yards in the game including an incredible touchdown that gave the Falcons the lead, 14-13 in the third quarter.

He is the tallest player on the team at 6-5 and was an all-stater in basketball, baseball and football at Maryvale H.S.

A computer science major, he played on the Falcon junior varsity basketball team as a sophomore.

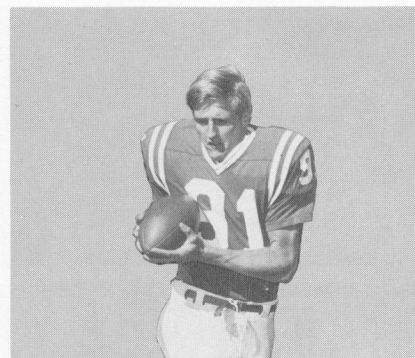

MEET THE FALCONS

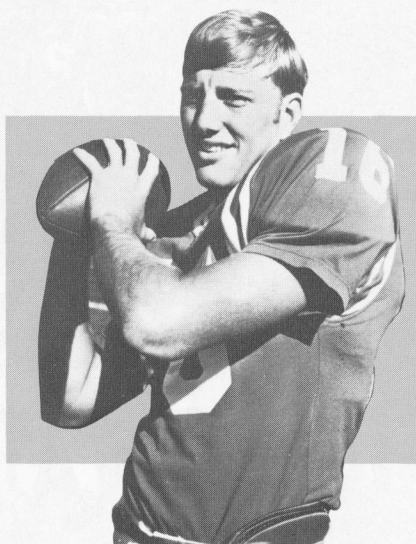

STEVE HANSEN, 6-3, 231-pound sophomore offensive tackle from Chadron, Neb. Starting right tackle in his first year of varsity play. One of the fastest offensive linemen on the team (4.8 speed in the 40), he was an all-conference pick for three years as a prep. Salutatorian of his high school class, Steve is majoring in electrical engineering.

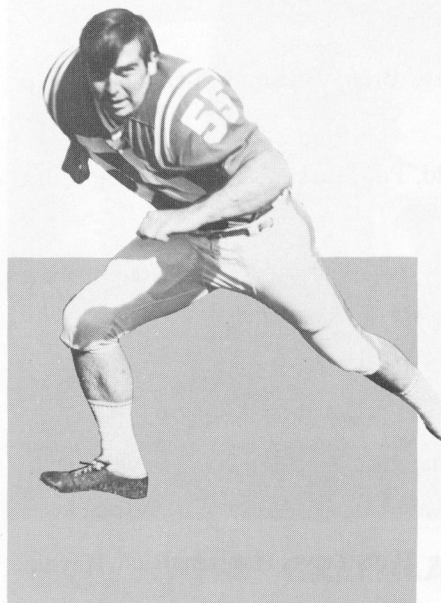

RICH HAYNIE, 6-2, 188-pound sophomore quarterback from Florissant, Mo. Stepped into the starting quarterback spot against Wyoming and engineered the heart-stopping 23-19 win with his second half passing. Rich is also one of the top pitchers on the baseball team, recording a 2.54 earned run average last spring, third best in Falcon history. He majors in aeronautical engineering.

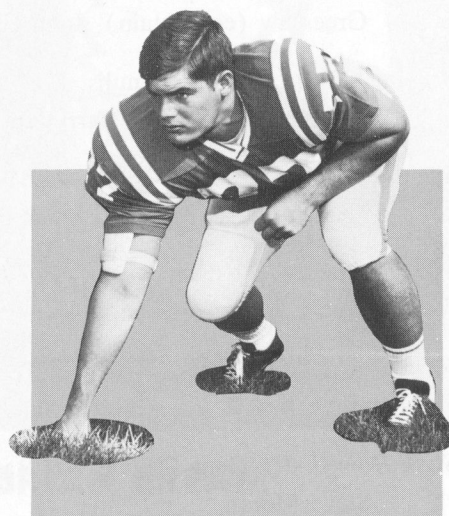

GREG SMITH, 6-2, 176-pound sophomore flanker from Houston, Tex. Has had the difficult task this year of replacing All-America flanker Ernie Jennings in his first varsity year. Led the freshman team in receiving last fall. Greg caught the last-second pass that beat Wyoming this year.

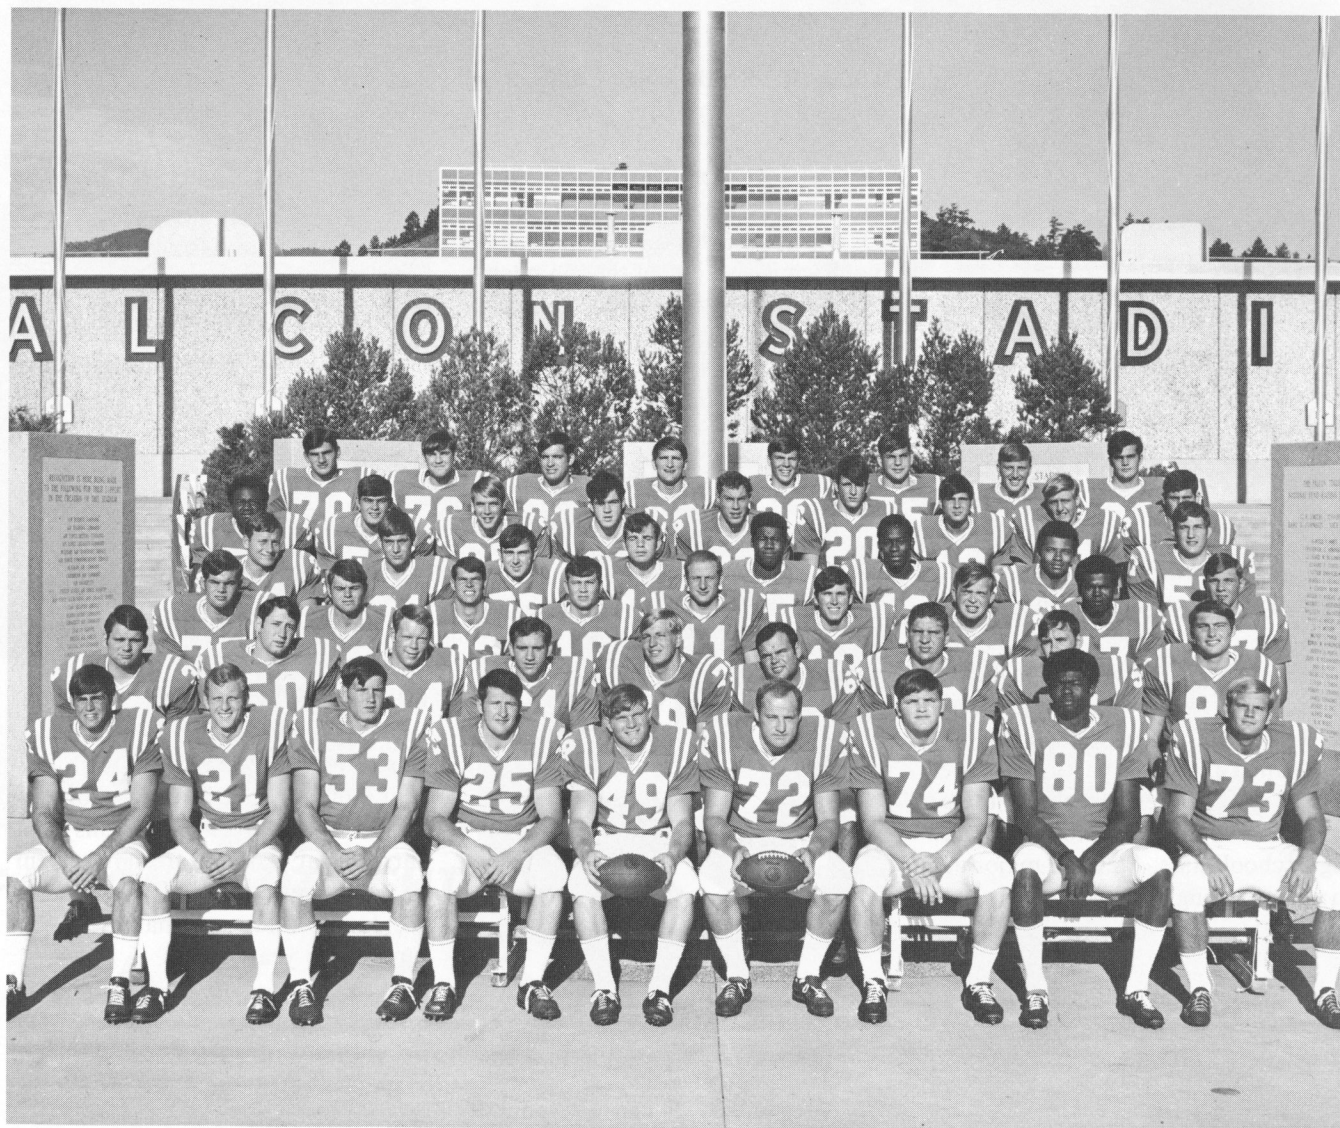

JIM MORRIS, 5-11, 198-pound sophomore linebacker from Duryea, Pa. Starting left linebacker having an outstanding first year. Jim is among the team leaders in tackles, tackles for losses and passes broken up. He also recovered the fumble in the last minutes that stopped a Colorado State drive for an upset win.

STEVE WALLER, 6-3, 228-pound junior offensive tackle from Carbon-dale, Ill. Starting left tackle for the Falcons who missed the regular season last year due to an ankle injury. An all-conference pick as a prep, he also lettered in basketball, track and wrestling. Carries a B average in a civil engineering major.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

The University of Oregon is a young university — not yet 100 years old. However, as of January 1, 1972, Oregon will be celebrating its 100-year centennial.

Organized by an act of the Oregon Legislature in 1872, University of Oregon did not begin operations until 1876. The first campus consisted of one building (Deady Hall) and the student body numbered 177 with a faculty of five.

Today, the University has an enrollment of 15,500 students, including more than 3,000 graduate students. There are more than 1,000 faculty members. In addition, 1,200 students are enrolled in the University's Medical, Dental and Nursing Schools located on the Portland Campus. To accommodate the rapid growth from an enrollment of less than 5,000 a little more than ten years ago, educational programs have been expanded and many new buildings have risen on the 250-acre Eugene campus.

The University of Oregon is one of seven schools in the State System of Higher Education and holds primary responsibility for instruction in liberal arts and numerous professional schools.

Included in the University are the College of Liberal Arts, the Graduate School and seven professional schools, all on the Eugene campus, and the schools of Medicine and Dentistry in Portland. Professional training is offered in Architecture and Allied Arts, Business Administration, Education, Health and Physical Education, Journalism, Law and Music.

Oldest of the professional schools is the School of Law, which was first established as a night law school in Portland in 1884 and was later moved to the Eugene Campus. Next oldest is the Medical School which was also established in Portland in 1884.

While large enough to rank among the leading universities in the West, the University of Oregon is small enough to permit individual attention to students' problems and provide opportunities for campus leadership that are not possible in larger schools. The main campus is located in Eugene at the head of the Willamette Valley, 110 miles south of Portland, and is a community of 80,000 in an urban area of about 175,000. This setting is ideal for the student seeking a non-metropolitan educational atmosphere.

Oregon's Honors College, a full four-year college, is unique in public higher education. Established in 1960, the Honors College offers superior students the advantages of a small, high-quality liberal arts college combined with the resources of a large university.

The University Library is the largest university library in Oregon and one of the largest in the Pacific Northwest. The total number of volumes is over one million. In addition to books and bound periodicals holdings of photos, pictures, sound recordings, and other materials number more than one million items.

The University's Museum of Art is the largest art museum of any state university campus in the United States. The museum, housing the Murray Warner Collection of Oriental Art and other University art collections, was built in 1930.

The real measure of the University is to be found in its graduates, who in every walk of life bear witness to the fact that this is an outstanding educational institution.

The whole is greater than the sum of its parts.

This simple definition of synergism is the best way to describe today's A-7. Its advanced electronic systems are so skillfully integrated that they out-perform each of their individual capabilities. Together they make the A-7 the most versatile and effective close air support and interdiction aircraft in the world.

Vought Aeronautics is the first aircraft manufacturer to produce an operational navigation and weapons delivery system that equals or betters unprecedented performance and accuracy guarantees.

Successful development of these systems took almost five years. Vought began with a proven air frame. Then we worked closely with the U.S. Air Force and U.S. Navy to design a superior avionics package that would meet the most exacting operational requirements. System interfaces were resolved with component suppliers. And computer software was developed to ideally coordinate these components.

In all, more than 4½ million man hours were invested. Plus thousands of simulation and flight test hours. Over ten thousand pieces of ordnance dropped. A quarter of a million 20MM rounds fired. Under rigorous test conditions.

As a result, today's A-7 delivers up to 15,000 pounds of varied payload with better than 10-mil accuracy. Destroying hard targets in one-third the sorties required by other systems.

Other aircraft today contain many of the same components found in the A-7. But the A-7 is the only weapons system in operation with demonstrated proof that its integrated whole is greater than the sum of its component parts.

Big Band Sounds

THE CADET DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS IS ON SCENE!

IN HUGHES STADIUM AT CSU The second public performance of the Corps was on Oct. 23 at halftime of the Air Force-Ram game in Ft. Collins. Several additional drill movements were added to the performance. Final show: at CU on Nov. 20.

By BILL MADSEN

Everyone's heart sings at the sights and magnificent sounds of precision marching bands! In their first public appearance at half-time at the Air Force-Army game on October 16, the new Cadet Drum and Bugle Corps received a standing ovation from a cheering crowd in excess of 45,000.

For the past two years, enthusiasm for a big cadet band has been on the upswing. Many will recall the voluntary Cadet Band that provided music at Falcon basketball games and other activities. Cadets with musical backgrounds felt, however, the Wing could come up with something bigger.

They approached Major R. E. Thurston, Director of the U. S. Air Force Academy Band (a regular Air Force band) with the idea of a Drum and Bugle Corps. Through the efforts of the Director, a meeting was arranged with the Superintendent.

Result? General A. P. Clark gave his enthusiastic endorsement. A Cadet Drum and Bugle Corps was authorized on a one year trial basis. Three top-rated non-commissioned officers from the Academy Band were designated to work with the cadets. MSgt. G. P. Lykens, with ten years of drum and bugle corps experience at Lackland AFB, where his unit performed at the Hemisfair in San Antonio, is the musical director. TSgt. Robert T. Houler has the drum section, and TSgt. Robert T. Long is the drill master.

The call went out for volunteer musicians with experience in brass and percussion instruments. Out of the new fourth class, 110 cadets stepped forward — plus 160 more from the upper classes! Auditions were held, and the non-coms selected those best qualified to fill up the 80-man unit.

The Cadet-in-Charge of the Drum and Bugle Corps is John E. Allison, a talented musician, who is also editor of the Academy yearbook POLARIS.

Cadet William W. Naumann of Baltimore, with an excellent administrative and choir background, was assigned as Executive Officer. A former president of the Finney high school band (Detroit, Mich.) and winner of the John Philip Sousa Award, Cadet Allan W. Howey was designated as the Corps operations officer.

In the front position as Drum Major, C3C Wes Hester proudly leads the Cadet Drum and Bugle Corps.

No special uniform is contemplated for the Cadet Drum and Bugle Corps. Their final public performance of the current football season will be at half-time at the Falcon-Colorado University game in Boulder on November 20.

Meanwhile, the new musical organization will continue to perfect its drill, unison and magnificent sounds. They will provide martial music at Cadet Wing noon meal formations as schedules permit. In the future, it is possible they will participate in local community parades and civic functions upon request. At the Academy itself, of course, they will play on special occasions for the Association of Graduates and at special functions of the Cadet Wing.

Next fall, if the Cadet Drum and Bugle Corps receives approval to continue — there is no doubt of this in the minds of the musicians themselves — the Corps will be back. With new marches, dazzling formations and magnificent big band sounds!

Stadium Information

LOST AND FOUND

If you lose an article while attending a game at Falcon Stadium, check at the main ticket office in the east building or the main concessions office on the top tier of the west side. If you find an article in the stadium area, please turn it in to any of the concession stands, the main ticket office or the main concessions office.

FIRST AID

Trained medical personnel are in attendance at all Air Force home games. In case of any emergency, report it immediately to the head usher in your portal. There are two first aid rooms and two first aid stations located in Falcon Stadium. The rooms are located in the east side building and on third tier of the west side, directly under the press box. The stations are located off the walkways of the first and second tiers in the vicinity of the 50-yard line.

EMERGENCY CALLS

Individuals expecting emergency calls should file their portal section, row and seat number with the command post, located in the east side building. Office number is 472-1151. A call number will then be issued. No special announcements are made over the public address system except in cases of gravest emergency. Please do not request this service needlessly.

STADIUM FACTS

For natural beauty, Falcon Stadium is hard to surpass. Built into the base of the Rampart Range mountains, the modern facility also is one of the most functional sports structures in the country.

The concrete structure, built in a natural bowl, has 45,028 permanent seats and can hold up to 50,000 spectators with additional temporary bleachers. There is one level of seats on the east side and three tiers of seats on the west, each serviced by two concession stands and restroom areas. All seats are within easy walking distance of the 9,610-vehicle capacity parking lot which surrounds the stadium on three sides.

The stadium is easily accessible from divided U. S. Interstate 25 and the Academy's Stadium Boulevard which leads directly to the parking lot. There is also ample parking space for 300 commercial busses, and a rail siding is located just a few hundred yards from the bowl for special trains.

GYMNISTS STRONG ON EXPERIENCE

1971-72 GYMNASTICS OUTLOOK

With nine lettermen returning, Air Force Academy will have an experienced team for the 1971-72 season. This is true despite the fact there will be no seniors on the squad.

"Air Force will again show fine progress this year," said Coach Karl Schwenzfeier. "We are still in a building situation, but this will not preclude our having the best team ever. We should win the Independent Championships for the second year and hopefully move up from seventh place on the NCAA Championship ladder."

Breck Cunningham will be the team captain and leading performer on the parallel bars. This year he will also participate in the ring event. His accomplishments last year certainly displayed excellent leadership capabilities.

Steve Hoit and Bill Ritter will be the top All-Arounders with John Tomich and Larry Garrett close behind. All are improving and may be entering various olympic trials this year in addition to their normal season.

many events and will be an asset on horizontal bar and parallel bars.

The surprise performer of last year, Jim Paquette, will again be a mainstay on both horizontal bar and long horse vaulting.

Chris Porter on side horse and John Rabins on rings will provide the needed top specialists in these most difficult events.

The highlights of the schedule will be the away dual meet with Army and the home triangular meet with Louisiana State University and Southern Illinois University. The latter two schools finished eighth and second respectively in the NCAA Championships last year.

FENCERS SEEK 16th STRAIGHT WINNING SEASON

1971-72 FENCING OUTLOOK

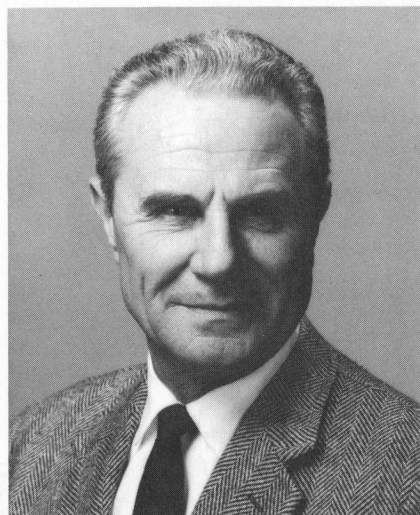

The Falcons will welcome back four lettermen this year: Bill Walker, team captain, Bob Berg, Mike Turner, and Stewart Downes. The loss of seven other lettermen is a big blow, but the talented depth will make up the losses. Replacing Dick Gray as team captain is Bill Walker. He will team up with Bob Berg, Mark Mayor, Ed Haegle, Kirby Knox, Ken Vargas, Mike Turner, and Stewart Downes, and with some able sophomores.

The fencing schedule is strong for the coming season, and the Air Force team will meet with the Army team the first time in history.

Toth's teams have one of the winningest records in Falcon history and this year's team should be no exception. "The squad is spirited, cohesive, and talented," said Toth.

WRESTLERS APPEAR STRONG

1971-72 WRESTLING OUTLOOK

Air Force's wrestling team again appears to be one of the strongest in the Rocky Mountain area and will see eight lettermen returning to bolster the lineup that includes All-America twins Kirt and Ken Donaldson.

Coach Karl Kitt's wrestlers posted a 10-1-0 dual meet record last year, the best in Academy history. The Falcons won the ninth Mountain Intercollegiate Wrestling Association (M.I.W.A.) tournament and qualified six wrestlers for the N.C.A.A. Championships where Air Force placed 13th.

Top returnees will be the Donaldsons, identical twins from Novato, Calif. Ken was named the team's most valuable wrestler and Sophomore Wrestler of the Year by the Amateur Wrestling News last year. He placed second at the N.C.A.A. Championships while his brother Kirt took fifth in the 118 pound division. Joining the twin combination will be junior Jim Callard, a two-time M.I.W.A. champion, and team captain Jack Black, who was ineligible last year but posted a 8-5-1 mark as a freshman.

Two senior lettermen will also return — heavyweight John Griffith and Rich Hinebaugh at 190.

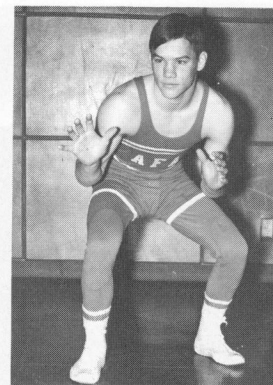

Other junior lettermen who will be much improved include Mike Reynolds, who placed third in the M.I.W.A., and Jerry Ford, who placed second in the M.I.W.A. tourney. Larry Dodge, a junior varsity letterman last season, will be giving added depth at the heavyweight division.

Sophomores who should play an important part are Mike Sacridier at 177; Jim Sveda at 134; Harold Reed and Jim Luntzel at 142; and Jim Leslie at 118.

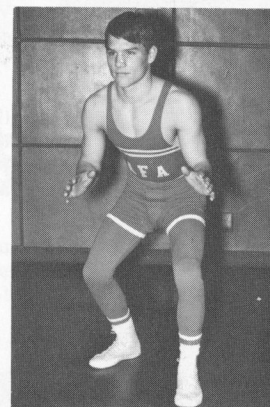

Several freshmen also will be pushing for a place in the lineup. Top prospects include Roy Hayes, a 142-pounder from Tulsa, Okla.; Jack McBride, a 118-pounder from Mount Pleasant, Pa.; and Dan Schmitt, a 190-pound Waterloo, Iowa, native.

SWIMMERS FACE TOUGH SCHEDULE

New Falcon swimming coach Capt. Paul Aehnlich has a tough act to follow after last season's sparkling 13-1 dual meet record. Air Force has added Washington, University of Pacific, Tulane and New Mexico to an already challenging schedule.

Anchoring the squad will be senior captain John Graham (breaststroke). Three lettermen who competed in the 1971 national collegiate championships, sophomore Bill Carrington (free-style), junior Pat Massey (butterfly) and junior Bill Lauritzen (individual medley), return to help form the experienced nucleus.

They will be joined by senior lettermen Jay Hampson (breaststroke) and Steve Clegg (butterfly) and junior lettermen Greg Gempier (breaststroke), Mark Chun (individual medley) and Jim Thompson (backstroke). Massey, Thompson and Lauritzen all established Air Force records last year.

CAPT. PAUL AEHNLICH, Head Coach

Basketball Begins Under New Coach

DAVE KAPASKA

Henry Egan starts his first season as Air Force head basketball coach with an optimistic outlook.

Egan was named to replace Bob Spear in May and the former Navy player feels he can surprise some people if his players can adjust quickly to a new system.

"I think we can have a winning season but it will depend on how quickly the players adapt to a new system," said Egan. "We could be stronger because of depth. We should have good balance through eight or nine players and more bench strength than last year.

Size will once again be a problem but that's nothing new for Air Force. In addition, most of the Falcons' toughest opponents such as Colorado State, Stanford and Marquette will be played on the road.

Four starters are lost from last year's team but the four returning lettermen saw plenty of action and will form the nucleus for Egan this fall. Only returning starter is junior guard Tom Blase, an excellent outside shooter who will be expected to carry the quarterbacking load this winter.

Senior forward Dave Kapaska was the fourth leading scorer last season with an 8.7 average and has an excellent shot. Other returning lettermen are junior guards Steve Gast and Steve Gulasey, both of whom saw considerable action last season.

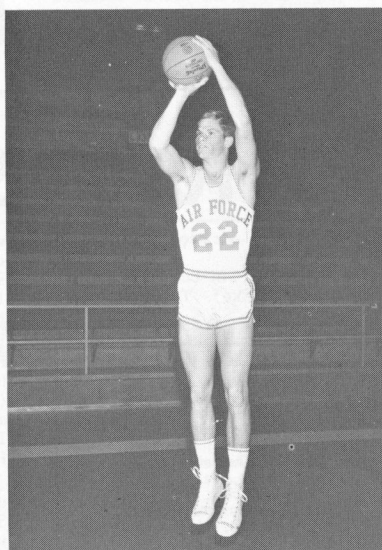

Although not lettering, several other players got valuable experience last season including junior center Ned Kintzing and senior center Truman Hall.

Rejoining the team next fall after sitting out last season with an illness is senior center Dan Pflueger, at 6-8 one of the tallest Falcon players in history. Pflueger saw junior varsity action in 1970 and could contribute a great deal to the team this season.

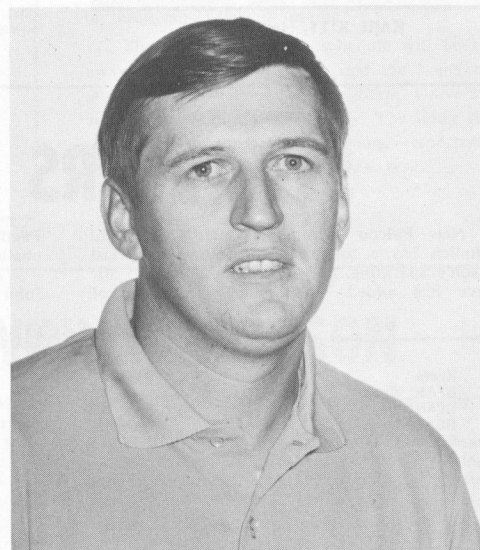

Top sophomores include forward Nick Nickelson, who led the frosh team with a 15.4 point per game average last year and forward Dave Sams, second leading scorer with a 13.2 average.

ICE HOCKEY PREPARES FOR NEW SEASON

Air Force's 1971-72 ice hockey outlook appears bright as the Falcons continue on the upswing after recording their first winning season last year with a 15-11-2 mark.

However, the big question mark in this season's success centers around the goal, where head coach Vic Heyliger needs to find a replacement for goalie Kim Newman. The prime candidates for the job will be incoming freshman Allan Morrison, and Phil Gronseth and sophomore Bob Ligday.

VIC HEYLIGER
Head Coach

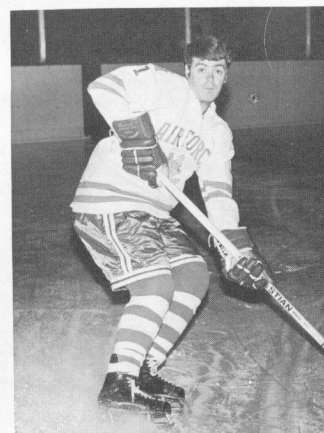

"If our number one goalie can develop quickly we will have an excellent chance of posting another winning season," said Heyliger.

The defensive unit will have much more responsibility this season with a new man in the nets. Steve Mullvain, Doug Johnson, Jerry Droppo and Greyson Morrow, all regulars last year, will be back, giving Heyliger an experienced unit. The Falcons will get added depth from sophomore Tim Kline and freshman Jerry Micheletti and Todd Zejdlik.

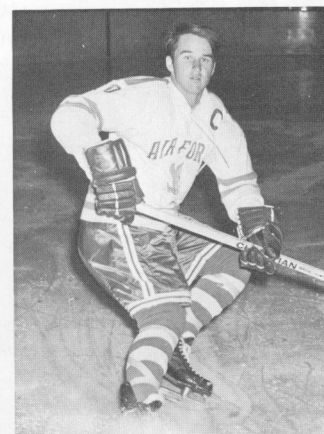

The Falcons offensive punch will once again be strong with the return of leading scorer and team captain Bob Ross. Other veterans back will be senior Jon Hanson, juniors Mike Henehan, Dave Skalko, and Dave Stangl, and sophomores Dave Bunker, Jim Stalko and Mike Lucca.

A fine group of freshmen will give Heyliger the added depth which the Falcons have lacked in the past. They include, Marlo Mellum, John Koelling and Fred Whittican.

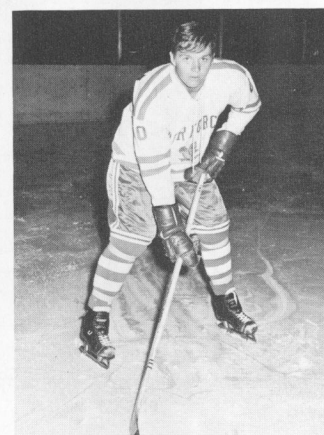

Overall, Heyliger should have three solid lines and a much improved team for another exciting season.
